

Environmental Policy

Questa is committed to minimising the impact of its activities on the environment. This commitment is reflected in every aspect of our business.

Our Product

- Our learning materials are an online resource and there is no need to print off any material to complete our country quests
- Our aim is to ensure that Questa Kids is carbon neutral
- When we occasionally produce printed materials, we always use recycled paper
- We do not send out promotional material in the form of 'stuff' - what we offer is ideas, inspiration and well-researched information

Our Business

- We operate in an environmentally friendly way - we have no premises, our product uses no material resources, our team work from home and communicate with each other and other individuals and organisations online.
- The majority of communications with customers and other interested parties through email and social media.

Our people

- Our employees share our environmental ambitions and strive towards being carbon-neutral in their work with us
- We strive to find subcontractors who also share our values about protecting the environment
- We encourage the children who use Questa to explore issues such as climate change, sustainable use of materials, promoting diversity in the natural environment as part of our commitment to respecting our world and its cultures.
- Our blog allows parents and guardians to encourage families to explore the world from home

Laura Curtis, CEO Questa

Date: 01.12.22